Which father is ready for a toga party?

What saints had splitting headaches in Marrakesh?

"I loved the witty questions and racing through the museum. I can't think of a better way to bring people together and have fun."

WATSON ADVENTURES SCAVENGER HUNTS: A DASH OF CULTURE

You won't be collecting objects (put back that statue!), but hunting for answers to tricky, humorous questions. No knowledge of any hunt location is required whatsoever—you just need a sharp mind and good teamwork.

ENGAGING, FAST-PACED FUN

In museums, parks, historic neighborhoods and beyond, hunters must hustle to answer questions designed to:

- get people relaxed, laughing and having fun
- foster teamwork in a dynamic new way
- highlight the talents of each member of the group
- introduce people to fascinating places
- lead to an exciting gathering after the hunt
- leave you with more money to spend on that party.

Best of all, you'll see your world—and maybe even your teammates—with new eyes.

CRACK A DA VINCI CODE

The questions are crafted to bring out the various skills of each member of your team. A person who's good at seeing the big picture will get one answer; a teammate who enjoys wordplay will get the next; and someone with a knack for navigating may excel at getting the team from place to place. The best teams quickly learn that they must use the strengths of everyone in the group.

The Secrets of Old Philadelphia Hunt

Ever try time travel? This hunt takes you back to the colonial era and the tumult of 1776. You'll discover surprising, little-known aspects of such places as Independence Hall and Carpenter's Hall (where Continental Congress first met), a mini museum on Ben Franklin, quirky portraits of Revolutionaries, and the historic homes and hidden passageways in Society Hill and Old City. Also available in this area:

The Haunted Philadelphia Hunt, featuring ghost-plagued locations and the legends of the spirits that you might scare up.

The Philadelphia Museum Madness Hunt

If you haven't been to this world-class museum, you are in for real a treat! You'll explore a French monastery, a Chinese palace, an Indian temple, a Pennsylvania Dutch kitchen, palatial rooms of European nobles and more. No knowledge of art or the museum is required. You'll be amazed by what you discover. Also available: The Naked at the PMA Hunt, which takes you in search of nudity in art.

The Murder at the Philadelphia Museum Hunt

A murdered curator has left behind a trail of clues connected with secrets in works of art. Your team of sleuths must piece together a sordid tale about greed, lust, pride and revenge, all revolving around a mysterious Rembrandt. Can you figure out who dunnit? To find out, you'll have to crack a secret code left in the victim's calendar. Be prepared for our most challenging hunt.

The Munch Around the Market Hunt

You can literally taste victory on this whirlwind tour of Reading Terminal Market, Chinatown and Market Street. While answering questions you'll also sample the best foods in the Market, featuring fine chocolates, cheesecake, cappuccino, Oprah's favorite mac 'n' cheese, roast pork, the ultimate soft pretzel and, if you choose, a cheesesteak.

The Mad Science Scramble at the Franklin Institute

You'll need Ben Franklin's craftiness to solve tricky questions about a gigantic locomotive, an Air Force jet, secret messages in optical illusions, a giant heart you must walk through, strange space suits, a real moon rock and Ben's own inventions.

The Conquer Philadelphia Hunt

See the best of the city in three hours. Traveling by either limousines or mass transit (including the Philly Phlash in summer), you'll hunt for clues from Fairmount Park to Penn's Landing, including such stops as Independence Hall, Reading Terminal Market, Rittenhouse Square, Society Hill, Old City and Chinatown.
